IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

Miss Ennis Becomes Wife of Mr. Joseph Kearney.

GEN. WRIGHT GOES SOUTH

With Gen. Bell, War Secretary Will Visit Chickamauga—Mr. Fred W. Carpenter Joins Judge Taft at Hot Springs—Mrs. Hunt Slater at Bar Harbor—Other Smart Set Doings.

The marriage of Miss Nolle E. Ennis and Mr. Joseph Kearney, both of this city, took place last evening in Holy Trinity Catholic Church.

The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock by Rev. Thomas Harlan, rector of Holy Trinity, assisted by Rev. James B. Becker, of Georgetown College, and Rev. Patrick O'Connell, of St. Vincent de Paul's Church. The church was decorated with palms and white blossoms, and the service was made especially effective by the presence of twenty-five acolytes, an unusually large number, out of compliment to the bridegroom, who was once an acolyte.

A beautiful programme of music was played by the organist of the church, Mr. George Herbert Wells, who had the first choir of boys in the District of Columbia after the famous recommendation of the Pope to eliminate women from the choir of Catholic churches. Mr. Wells played a short recital before the ceremony, and the wedding marches and soft music during the ceremony. The bride was attended by Miss Rose Kearney, sister of the bridegroom, and the latter was attended by Mr. Stanley Viers, a well-known illustrator, of New York, her best man. The ushers were Mr. John Croghan, Mr. Joseph Barron, Mr. Gus Schult, and Mr. Arthur Birch.

The bride's gown was of white chiffon, over white satin, trimmed with lace. She wore a large white hat, trimmed with white ostrich plumes, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a necklace and pendant, the gift of the bridegroom.

The maid of honor wore white lace over white chiffon and silk, a large white hat with ostrich plumes, and carried La France roses.

Miss Ennis, aunt of the bride, wore white organdie, with white hat, and Miss Elsie Berry, cousin of the bride, was in pink organdie and lace. Immediately after the ceremony a small reception was held in the home of the bride, on Capitol Hill, for the relatives and close friends, after which Mr. Kearney and his bride left for their wedding trip to Niagara Falls and New York. The going-away gown was of Copenhagen blue eolienne over taffeta, with hat to match. After August 15 they will be at home in their apartment in the Colonial, which is now awaiting them. The apartment was completely furnished, to the minutest detail, by the parents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Luke Kearney, as their gift to the bride. Among the out-of-town guests, in addition to the best man, Mr. Viers, were Miss Chalk and Mr. Virgil Church, of Baltimore.

SHE JUST MUST LIVE

Mrs. Leslie Carter-Payne Tells Troubles in Court.

BANKRUPTCY CASE HEARING

Temperamental Artist Hates to Be Bothered with Such a Thing as Divulging Assets, but She Does the Best She Can When Quizzed by Lawyers—Owes Only $149,418.

New York, July 20.—Mrs. Leslie Carter-Payne said right out to-day before United States Commissioner Alexander in the Federal building that she simply has to live, that's all.

That was the saddest part of her testimony in the examination before Commissioner Alexander under the bankruptcy act to reveal assets. If there's one thing more ornery than another to a great temperamental artist, it is this stuff of revealing assets.

From 11 o'clock this forenoon until an hour and a half after high noon, Mrs. Carter-Payne told everything divulgable about her assets. Lawyer Charles R. Co-ruth, acting for Receiver Ezra Prentice, asked the actress lots and lots of questions about her furniture and the pictures, and where did that ring go, and how about Christmas presents, and the time she strolled out shopping and got $11,069 worth of clothes, and whether Mr. Dressmaker Hittings was taken through her house at 115 East Eighteenth street by the butler, and how much Dave Belasco owes her, and how about Charley Dillingham, and whether or not (answer yes) she gave Mr. Dressmaker Hittings a drink and sent him at 12:30 a. m. out into the night.

She Is Good Witness.

She was a good witness, Mrs. Carter-Payne, except that Stenographer Parsons seemed to think that the actress could have said ten times as much in eight times as less time.

After that sad part where Mrs. Carter-Payne told that she simply had to live or die, things brightened up. When it came to the testimony about the butler taking the man dressmaker around the house, the whole court proceedings bore a striking resemblance to a social function. For Mrs. Carter-Payne was radiantly happy then and clapped her hands delightedly.

During the course of her examination, Mrs. Carter-Payne related her woes in detail, unfolded her trials and troubles in the theatrical world, told what a terrible time she had with her managers, and some other things, and when the proceedings adjourned to next Friday the end, as far as she was concerned, was not yet.

When Mrs. Carter-Payne was adjudged a bankrupt in November last she owed $149,418.

NAVY ENGINEER DEAD.

Anecito G. Menocal Passes Away in New York City.

New York, July 20.—Anecito G. Menocal, a famous civil engineer, attached to the United States navy since 1872, died this evening of arterial sclerosis at his home, 251 West Eighty-first street.

He would have been seventy-two years old on September 1 of this year, and had been unable to leave his bed since last November. An accident to one of his legs several years ago while he was in Africa, and a further weakening of his system when he was in Cuba early last year, all had their effect on the progress of the disease.

Senior Menocal was born in Cuba of a family prominent there. He was educated in schools in Havana, and came to this country in his early twenties to study at the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y. He was graduated from that school in 1882 and returned to Cuba. From 1882 until 1889 he was second in command in the engineering department of the Havana waterworks. He left that place to be engineer of the department of public works in New York City. He remained in the service of this city until 1872, when he was appointed to his place in the navy.

In 1890 he was a member of the commission to select a site for the chief naval station to be placed in the Philippine Islands and later served on the board that made all estimates for the station at Olongapo, Subic Bay, in the Philippines. The Navy Department will be notified of the death by Edward Menocal, and permission will be sought to have the body buried in the National Cemetery at Arlington. It is expected that the funeral will be held there on Thursday next.

OPEN LAWN FETE FOR MISSION

Father Mark's Flock Hopes to Raise Funds for New Building.

Speaker of Maryland House of Delegates Makes Speech, and Pretty Girls Are Out in Force.

Fully 500 persons were present last evening at the opening of the lawn fete, which will continue throughout the week on the grounds of the Catholic Mission at Mount Rainier, D. C., with the purpose of raising $3,000 to defray the expense of erecting a new building for the new religious settlement.

The grounds were beautifully illuminated by torches and Japanese lanterns. The booths were tastefully arranged, and pretty girls and equally pretty matrons presided over them. The fete was formally opened by Father Mark, who made a brief address, in which he thanked his people for their generous support, and announced that he would do all in his power to make the new parish a success, both temporally and spiritually. He then made a humorous sally at the expense of the women in an anecdote the truth of which, he said he was willing to vouch for.

"In a certain town," he said, "a convention was being held, the object of which was to secure woman suffrage, and among the speakers on the platform was one whose rhetoric was as overpowering as an avalanche, and who silenced her opponents by the query: 'Where would man be if it were not for woman?'"

"No one could answer this, and later she again silenced her antagonist by the same awful question. The third time in which she essayed it she met her Waterloo, for a voice from the gallery broke out in quavering tones: 'He would be in Paradise!'"

Here the speaker's voice was drowned in laughter and applause, and when he could again make himself heard he introduced the speaker of the evening, Hon. J. E. Ray, speaker of the Maryland house of delegates, who said, in part:

"I am one of those who believe that we cannot expend too much in beautifying the sanctuary in which we worship, but unless these churches preach and teach by word and by deed a religion of love and religion which carries comfort and consolation to the downtrodden and oppressed, a religion which carries aid and succor to the widow and the orphan, then, to my mind, they become as dead, as impotent for good, as was the temple at Jerusalem when it became the abode of the money changers."

"But, my dear friends, from what I have learned and what I know of the one who will lead and direct you, you have one who will occupy his position who will fill the high office to which he has been called, as the lowly Nazarene would have him do it."

"And, Father Mark, I can say to you, from what I know of these people, that you have those who will help you to make your work a success."

An orchestra, under the direction of William S. Burke, furnished the dance music, and many enjoyed themselves in this pastime.

Wednesday will be Knights of Columbus Day at the mission, which will be followed in the evening by a pyrotechnic display. State Deputy F. J. Halligan will make the opening address, and will be followed by Vincent T. Sheehy and J. C. Rogers, of Hyattsville. Thursday will be set aside for the Ancient Order of Hibernians, and Friday for the Catholic Knights of America.

Hoffman Philip, secretary of the American Legation at Tangier, notified the State Department he would leave Tangier last night for Casa Blanca to attend a meeting of the Casa Blanca claims commission, which is to allow foreigners whose property was damaged in the disorders at Casa Blanca about a year ago, to file claims. Mr. Philip has been designated to act as the representative of the United States, and Mandeville C. Jacobus, of Paris, who for the last several years has been legal adviser to the American Embassy in Paris, has gone to Casa Blanca to aid the Americans in the preparation of their claims.

Nacome Is Recaptured.

The town of Nacome, in Southern Honduras, has been recaptured from the revolutionists by government troops, and the revolutionists fled over the border into Salvador, where they were arrested by the Salvadoran authorities. Commander Henry T. Mayo, commanding the gunboat Albany, yesterday sent a dispatch to the Navy Department saying President Duvila, of Honduras, had announced officially the rebels had been defeated and the revolution quelled.
